REPORT OF THE SCHOOL BOARD.

Once more in the course of human events it becomes the duty of the School Board to make the annual report of the several institutions of learning under their supervision during the past year, and in doing so we do not deem it necessary to make any very extended remarks, but will endeavor to set forth a plain statement of facts as they occur to us in their natural order.

We are at the close of the second year of our schools under the new school law which has seemed to be almost universally condemned by the people of our town; still, we would insist on giving this law, as every other law made by the Legislature of our State, a fair trial, seeking for the most improved ways of executing the same for the greatest good of all concerned. However, it sometimes requires more than one, or two years even, to become fully acquainted with the best methods of running new machinery upon old foundations, and making good application of what material we have to work with. But let us be patient and persevering in our efforts to so keep the ball rolling that the best results shall be accomplished, and we think that we may soon discover that our new law, however imperfect it may be, has some advantages over the old system of managing our common schools, especially in sections of the town where the number of scholars in some of the old districts is far too small to make it either profitable or interesting to teacher or scholar to run a school, notwithstanding the old school law provided a remedy for these difficulties when put in force. It has been the aim of the School Board to conduct the schools in the manner best adapted to promote the best interests of the children and youth craving knowledge, even to the time of commencing the terms when viewed from the right standpoint. While other towns throughout the state are making improvements in the arts and sciences, seeking for the most methodical ways of teaching and making plain what is meant to be shown, it would be natural to indulge the hope that our own town does not fall in the rear but maintains a respectable rank among them.

Seven schools have been in operation in the summer and six in the fall and winter during the past year; the teachers employed were well qualified to instruct in all the branches required to be taught, and most of them were experienced and had been successful where they had labored in the past; they were earnest in the discharge of their duties in the schoolroom for the best interest of their pupils; and generally good order has been maintained, which we regard as essential for the good progress of any school. We hear reports sometimes that there has been a want of order in some of the schools, and the conduct of scholars such as to interrupt the school, but we think there has been no total failures in town the past year; when we consult the registers of the several teachers in the column of moral deportment it appears that the behavior of the pupils has been satisfactory to the teachers to a good degree; yet we would call the attention of teachers to the fact that while the registers are supposed to be correctly filled, care should be taken that the column of deportment, if filled at all, shall show the true standing of the scholar in that respect.

The winter term of school at Wolfeboro' Junction was brought to a close at the middle of the seventh week in consequence of a contagious disease which prevailed at the time to some extent and it was thought advisable for the protection of the scholars to close it for the time being; after a vacation of two weeks it was designed to commence the term again, but the disease still lingering in the place we deemed it expedient not to have any more school for the winter.

The general progress of the schools on the whole has been good; creditable to the teachers and scholars, satisfactory to all concerned.

WAKEFIELD ACADEMY, supported by Ellen A. Dow fund and tuition. Spring term: length 8 weeks; number of scholars enrolled, 38; principal, Fred A. Fernald. Fall term: length 10 weeks; number of scholars enrolled, 28; principal, John Gage.

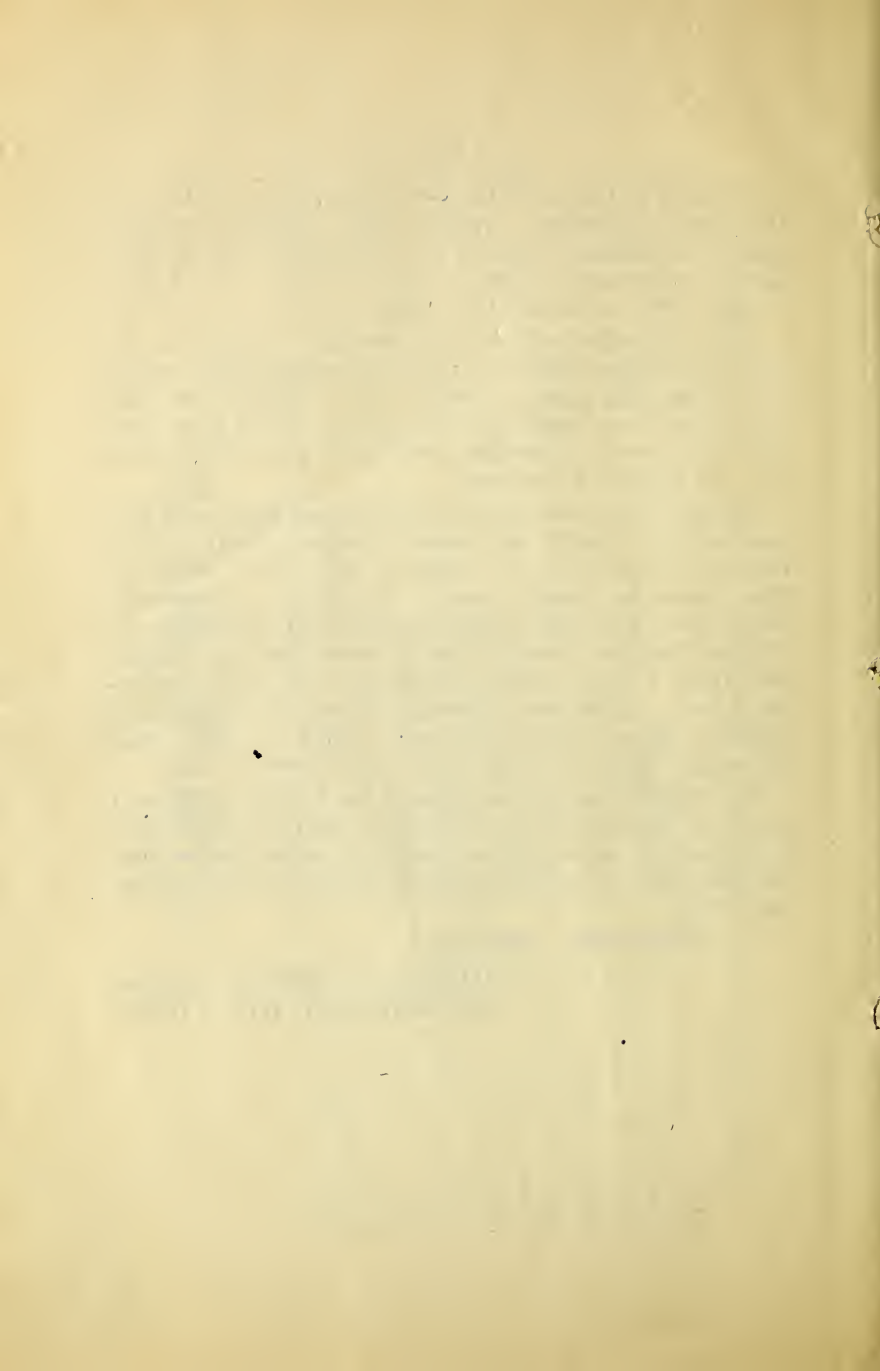

In consideration of the favors that this institution has conferred on the people of Wakefield and adjoining towns for the past fifty years, it would seem as though the citizens of the town would still be in favor of keeping this school in operation that the youth of the present day may reap the benefit of the same.

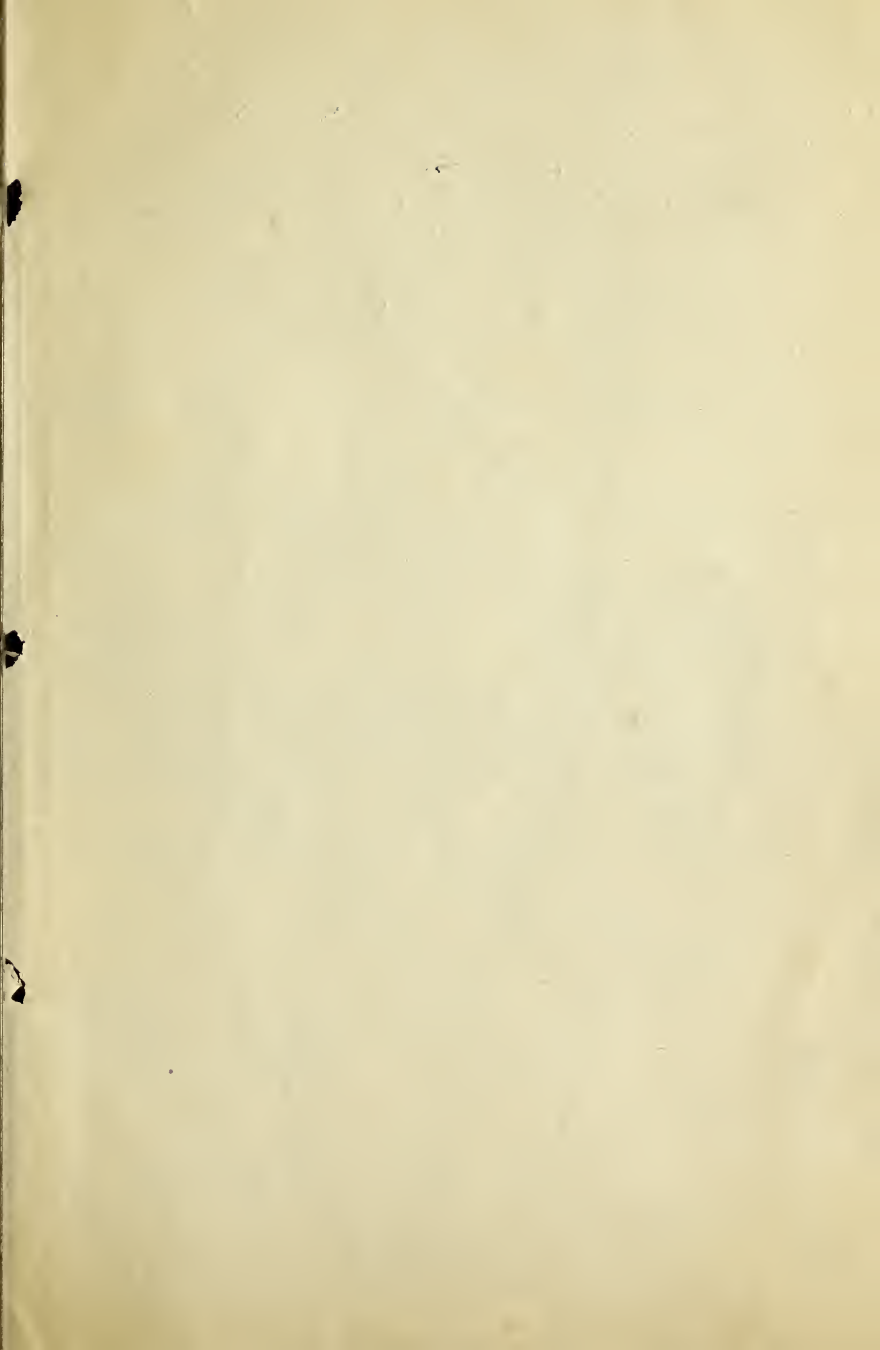

But the old school-room and its surroundings need considerable repairing to put them in proper condition for a school; no repairs of any amount have been made on these rooms for many years. We have a prosperous school now; but if the rooms could be put in suitable order that the place would have a more inviting appearance there would doubtless be a larger and more profitable school. With the addition of the sum of two hundred dollars (raised by the town) to the Ellen A. Dow fund this school might be made free to all in town.

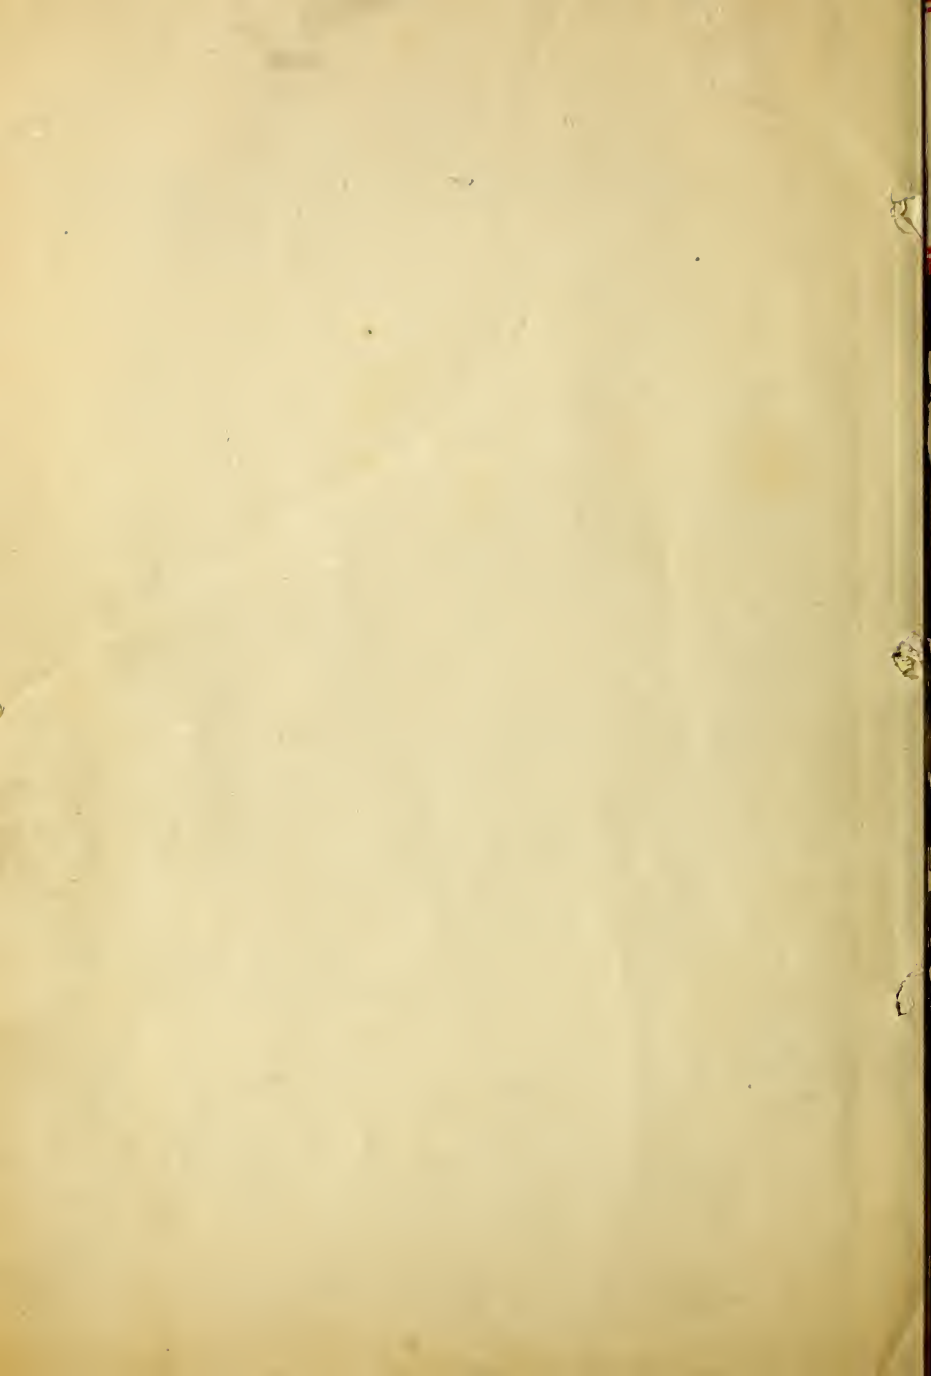

We would earnestly recommend the furnishing of text books by the town in order that there may be a uniformity of books in our common schools, by which the number of classes may be reduced and the progress of the schools improved.

Respectfully submitted,

JOHN G. SANBORN, } School
GEORGE H. GAGE, } Board.

REPORT OF THE SCHOOL BOARD.

Your School Board beg leave to make the following report :—

The schools in town have been taught by teachers of experience. We have employed no teachers excepting such as have had considerable experience in the school-room. We are well aware that the new school system has been antagonized by some of the parents in town; but we are confident that the complaints are against imaginary faults in the system rather than real. No true reform or improvement has ever been made without its oppositions. We wish to call the attention of all to the fact that under the present system the schools have improved in thoroughness and drill. Also that the present plan is such as nearly every state in the Union have now adopted. And that in the states which lead in education our present system is highly favored. Again we ask that you give the new system an impartial trial.

Please remember that your school funds were diminished more than a thousand dollars by your vote whereby the Savings Bank Tax, which formerly was applied to school purposes, has been used for other purposes. We ask in justice to yourselves, to your town, and to your children that you give at least $750 more than the statutes compel to be raised for the support of schools for the ensuing year.

Don't take the children's schooling! We feel that no greater mistake can be made than to make the schools in town less than 28 or 30 weeks per year, for you are well aware that most of the towns in the state have from 30 to 36 weeks of schooling each year.

We wish to say that on account of sickness last year the winter term of school at Wolfeboro Junction was only $6\frac{1}{2}$ weeks, and that this has been made up this year so that if you will compare the two year's schooling you will find that Wolfeboro Junction has not had quite as much schooling as the other districts in the two years.

The work of repairs which commenced last year has not been finished fully, and we suggest that the amounts appropriated be used as they were apportioned, and that you consider the needs of some of our other school-houses.

The School Board has endeavored to use the school funds so as to give the scholars the best advantages within our means. We are aware that we are "mortals" like other people, and while we thank all for their co-operation in this most important work, we earnestly exhort all to give more attention to this great and important work of preparing our youth for future usefulness among mankind.

If you wish to see your town hold its rank in our commonwealth, your first duty is to see that good morals and education be carefully given to our scholars. If you find yourselves obliged to curtail in any of your expenses, let it be for your incidental expenses for things that are neither necessary nor profitable; but don't starve the scholars intellectually, nor morally. Intelligence and good morals go hand in hand.

We ask parents to be careful not to listen to tale-telling ; please remember that if you find it perplexing to look after a family of two or three children, what must it be for a teacher with from 20 to 45, especially if the scholars have parents sharply condemning the acts of the teacher. Please remember that teachers are largely human as well as other people.

Some scholars that found it very difficult to read words of one syllable at the opening of the school year now read readily in the "third reader".

We are highly gratified with the schools as a whole, though we find that some were not all that we could hope for. We have learned by experience that in this town, as in all others, there are "Chronic Grumblers", and we advise all to "take due notice and govern themselves accordingly" whenever such people are found to be boiling over.

WAKEFIELD ACADEMY is still jogging on, and our hope is still in the future for this old institution of learning; that some liberal minded person may wish to see it flourish and aid it with a liberal donation so that it may have decent school-rooms. There is no reason excepting poverty why this school does not have at least 60 or 70 pupils; but we can never look for much from this institution until the school-room is adequate for a school of its grade. A very successful term of ten weeks was taught in the spring of 1888 by Fred A. Fernald. On account of the common school being in session no fall term was taught. This institution has been a great blessing to not only Wakefield but to many persons in adjoining towns. We earnestly recommend that this school be made free to all scholars in town

Report of the School Board.

For many years past it has been the duty of the superintending school committee at the close of the year to report the condition and progress of our educational institutions ; and since the present law came in force this duty has been required of the school board by the laws of our state. And when our attention is turned to this subject we feel a deep interest in the welfare of our public schools. In these lie the foundations of art and science, of good morals and civil government. It is here the youthful generations of our land learn the rudiments of their education which is to fit them for the active duties of life in mature years ; and it is to be regarded as certain that they, if guided aright here and at home by precept and example, may go from these temples of learning to the higher fields of instruction to finish their course of study with correct habits and principles firmly fixed that may serve to shape their characters through life. Then we see how important it is that our teachers be selected with this end in view. Not only should they be well qualified as respects the various branches required to be taught by the laws of our state, but their course pursued and language used should be such as is worthy of imitation. It has been the aim of your school board to select teachers possessing such qualifications. It is just as essential that a school of seven or eight scholars under ten years of age be correctly instructed as one containing forty or fifty pupils of a more advanced age. In most of our schools we have employed experienced teachers, many of them having labored successfully in the school-room for a course of years. They came to the school with that energy of purpose and faithfulness of zeal which ensures success; under their instruction an interest has been awakened and time well improved; thorough instruction has been given, and scholars in their recitations have not been always closely confined to their text-books, but have learned to apply practically the theory by questions illustrating the principles taught and aiding them in getting a clear understanding of the subject treated. In one or two instances the discipline was not up to the standard we would like. "Order is Heaven's first law", and nowhere is it more essential than in the school-room; no school can be prosperous where hubbub and confusion prevail. Contagious diseases have spread to a considerable extent in some localities preventing scholars from attending school so regularly as they otherwise would have done; but no one is accountable for what is beyond the control of human agencies. Taking the schools as a whole the progress has been very creditable to both teachers and scholars; while some have not come up to what we would desire, others have accomplished more than we could have expected.

It will be seen by our accounts that we have expended quite a sum for the transportation of scholars; but we regard this to be far more economical than running a school at the several old school-houses with only from five to eight scholars. By this arrangement we have had 24 weeks schooling for all the scholars in town.

We think generally there has been a good co-operation with teachers and parents, which is a great assistance in the progress of any school; the number of parents who visit the schools is much larger now than formerly and we would wish to see still more improvement in this direction.

Our last legislature passed the law requiring towns to furnish text-books for our schools, which we think was a wise measure; there has been a desire expressed in a former report of our schools that this favor might be granted in order to give teachers more time at recitations by having a better uniformity of books and thus diminishing the number of classes.

WAKEFIELD ACADEMY.

This school is now in successful operation with twenty-five scholars under the instruction of Mr. George F. Garland, a student of Bates College, and we trust good improvement will be made.

A great deal of fault is found by some of the good people at the Corner on account of the high school being kept in the same old school-room which has been occupied for that purpose for more than fifty years. Is not the right vested in the people of Wakefield to have a school here as good as formerly? Has there been any change? They tell us the scholars injure the meeting-house so much it is useless to make any repairs on it. Is this an evil that is gaining ground, and does the small number of pupils who now attend this school injure the building more than forty or fifty did a few years ago? Is it a fact that the children and youth of the present day are more depraved and given to vice than at a former period? If so it is time to awake and see what the cause is and apply the remedy, if there is any. If the scholars who attend this school commit any depredations or injury in or around this building there is a law upon our statute book for the punishment of the person who commits them, and let it be applied.
